Did you know?

Celmac has been producing toilet seats in the UK since 1890. A family run business, the Celmac name was created by combining the names of Celia, Elizabeth and Lucy McArd, the daughter of Robert McArd, founder of the brand. The first (and not the last!) success came in the 1930's with the black crescent shaped school seat which was originally made from Bakelite. Today the crescent seats are manufactured with more environmentally friendly thermoset materials which have naturally anti-viral properties.

// Over 1 million Crescent seats have been sold in the UK since the 1930s! //
